Painting Day

Today, Peppa and George are painting. "We need some old newspaper to put on the table," says Mummy Pig. Daddy Pig is reading his newspaper. "You can have it when I'm finished," he smiles. "Ho! Ho! OK you can have it now!" "Hooray!" cries Peppa.

George puts his hands in the paint. Splat! "Silly George!" cries Peppa. "Big children don't put their hands in the paint." George loves painting with his hands.

Splot!

Splot!

Splot!

Peppa really loves painting with her hands too! Peppa and George are having so much fun!

Now, Daddy Pig is joining in with the painting! He gets a raw potato and makes a picture of a flower. "Clever Daddy!" cries Peppa.

Daddy Pig loved painting when he was a young piggy!

Daddy Pig puts on his old painting clothes. "Why are you wearing that funny hat, Daddy?" asks Peppa. "This is my beret, Peppa," replies Daddy Pig. "It puts me in the mood for painting pictures!"

Daddy Pig is painting the old cherry tree in the garden. "Now, I'll start with the sky. What colour is the sky?" he asks. "Blue of course," replies Peppa. "Very good!" cheers Daddy Pig.

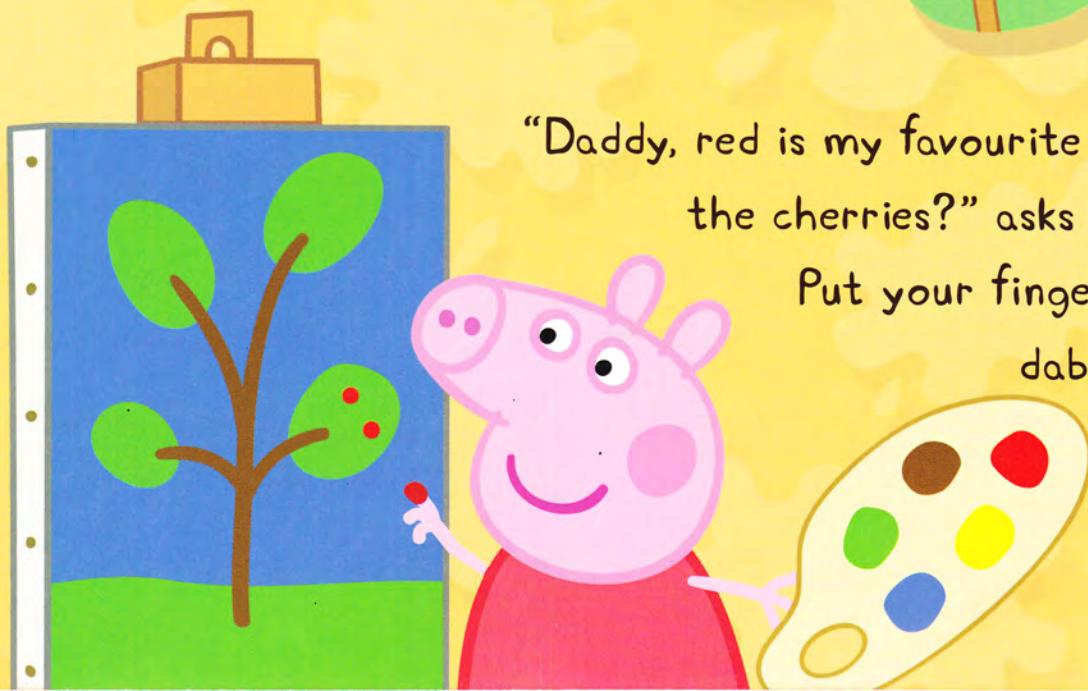

"Now we need green for the leaves on the cherry tree," says Daddy Pig.

"But there isn't any green paint!" cries Peppa. "If we mix blue paint with yellow paint, we can make green!" explains Daddy Pig.

"Daddy, red is my favourite colour! Can I paint the cherries?" asks Peppa. "Yes, Peppa! Put your finger in the paint and dab it onto the tree!"

Now, it's George's turn. "What a great painter you are, George!" smiles Daddy Pig.

Just then, the ducks arrive and knock over the painting. They put their footprints all over it! Then, they make footprints in the garden just like the ones on the painting!

"The ducks' footprints on the painting match the grass. Perfect!" cries Mummy Pig. "I am an expert at painting!" says Daddy. "And so are the ducks!" laughs Peppa. Tee hee! Snort! Quack!
